LOCAL SHIPYARDS NOT AFFECTED BY WOOD SHIP ORDER

There has been considerable comment in Pensacola regarding the action taken by the government to check shipbuilding, especially the construction of wooden ships. Many have feared that this action might be a loser by the curtailment.

A recent dispatch from Washington presents an optimistic view of the proposed cancellation of contracts. It points out that every yard now prepared to build ships or barges can be profitably employed in the work of re-replacing shipping which has been destroyed since the beginning of the war.

The article says: "Instead of being a blow at the wooden shipbuilding industry, officials see in the failure of the government to make contracts past 1919 an opportunity for the yards released from government orders to begin the work of private shipbuilding. It may be possible to obtain more advantageous agreements for these."

"It is probable, too, that American yards, with their facilities created to meet the war needs of the country, will be able to build ships for foreign nations. Wooden yards will be in demand for creating coastwise vessels or ships for the West Indies and Latin-America trade."

While none of the local yards is building under government contract, all have been operating to capacity for private account and it is predicted that the demand for ships will keep them busy for many years.

MEET INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a tablespoonful of Salts if Back hurts or Bladder bothers —Meat forms uric acid.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to see relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts: take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.—Adv.

was blind for twenty months, yet I sing no song of hate.

"If we curse and rave about them, we sink, in a certain sense, to their own level. Let us win this war; let us beat the boche; let us kill Prussianism, but let us not sink to the same level with the Hun."

"War is a man's medicine. I know of no one who gets more out of life than the soldier at the front."

He paid high tribute to the American troops, saying that the first time in three years that the Germans saw the backs of the Australians was when the latter turned around to look at the American doughboys, coming over the top.

With a wonderful gift of speech and a voice that has marvelous carrying power, Mr. Skehill is easily one of the most compelling speakers ever heard here, and his story of the siege of Gallipoli, at which he was wounded, was one of the most graphic of descriptions, and thrilled his hearers with its story of heroism.

His whimsical humor, his strong denunciation of the evil of the war and his faith in the good that is to come out of it, were compelling in their power and held the audience for more than half an hour, silent and thrilled except for frequent laughter and applause.

At the Baptist Church in the evening, Mr. Skehill spoke to a large audience again under the auspices of the United War Work camp campaign committee.

At the church in the evening Mr. Skehill spoke particularly of the poets who had given their lives in the Great Cause, and of the drama of the war. At the First Methodist Church in the morning he spoke to a great audience and again at the Naval Air Station in the afternoon.

Mr. Skehill, who won the British Literary Prize, has given The Journal the following beautiful poem, for publication:

DIXIE-LAND
(Through the Window of a Railway Train in South Carolina)
Before me, like the pictures on the screen,
Flow the brooks and fields of waving
green.
While in the far flung distance, lone
and bare,
The mountains peer from out their clouded lair.
The cyprus and the maple, of their
verdure shed,
Stand, stark and still, and silent as the
dead,
A mat of multi-colored flowers below.
Soft drapes the field where fabled
fairies go.
Each night, to serenade beneath the trees,
And drink, from silver cups, the incensed breeze,
Oh, mayhap, who can tell what fairies
do.

To wait the morn and suck the pearl-
ing dew
Of flowers rich. The sun, a ruby red,
Glow in the west, where colors gar-
landed,
Steal out through space to fondle and
caress
The lone clouds, in their virgin loveliness.
High, on the wing, in richest notes,
And rare,
A wild bird fills the cool autumnal
air.

With melody divine. Across the way
A mother watches as her children play.
And down the winding pike, soft-eyed and glad
A maiden walks to meet her southern lad.
And as I sit here in this southbound
train,
It seems as though the loneliness and
pain
Of blasted hopes, and youthful promises slain
Softened—since earth was earth, the eyes of man
Have ne'er beheld a more delightful
span
Than these soft skies and colored hills
so grand.
Oh Lord, it is, it is thy promised land.

HOW A SALESMAN SUFFERED
R. J. Porter, Sterling, Col., writes: "For six months I suffered with a painful weak back. As a traveling salesman I had to stoop frequently to pick up my grip, which I grew to dread as the pain when I straightened up was awful. Numerous remedies failed to reach my case. I was induced to try Foley Kidney Pills. Relief was immediate. Say, they are great! Any one afflicted as I was, should try a bottle or two of Foley Pills." Good for pain in the back, rheumatic pains, aching joints, sore muscles. Sold everywhere.—adv.

JENKINS TO FACE MURDER CHARGES

Geola Jenkins, the colored woman, who was shot by Julius Jenkins early last Monday morning died at 7 o'clock yesterday morning at her home in Millview as a result of the wounds inflicted upon her by the colored man. This brings the case into more serious consequences for Jenkins and it is likely that a verdict of manslaughter or murder will be returned by the coroner's jury which is to meet this morning at 10 o'clock, and which was empaneled by Coroner W. L. Johnson and Deputy Sheriff Marble.

Jenkins secured entry to the colored woman's house through a window and shot her during the early hours of the morning. The sheriff's office was called and the assailant was caught by Deputy Marble before noon. It is charged that the weapon with which Jenkins is said to have done the shooting was afterward thrown into a small lake near Millview.

NEGRO SHOOTING CAUSES EXCITEMENT
Matten Smith, colored, 30 years old, was shot and seriously wounded at 3:30 o'clock last night by Aaron Long, also colored, proprietor of a meat market at 319 North DeWitts street. The shooting took place on lower Tarra-gonna street and the victim was removed to his home near the corner of Coyle and Belmont streets in a taxi-cab.

It is alleged by negroes in the neighborhood that Smith, accompanied by another colored man and two negro women, one of whom is said to have been Long's wife, were riding with a horse and buggy owned by Long, when the shooting occurred. Smith is an employee of the Pensacola Shipbuilding company and was in a serious condition at a late hour last night, the bullet having entered the right side of his abdomen.

Long was arrested late last night by Captain Harper and Officer Simmons. The shooting created considerable excitement among negroes of the city.

Enid Bennett in "Keys of the Righteous"
The very newest Thomas H. Ince production, "The Keys of the Righteous," a Paramount picture, is to be seen tomorrow at Isis Theatre, starring Enid Bennett who has, because of a lawsuit which she only recently won, been enjoying some time of enforced idleness. Her friends will be glad to learn that "The Keys of the Righteous" gives Miss Bennett ample opportunity to use her great talents not only as an emotional ingenue, but also in parts of the picture as the winsome comedienne that only she can be. The excellent supporting cast includes Earl Rodney, George Nichols, Josef Swickard, Carl Forms, Gertrude Claire, Lydia Knott and Melbourne MacDowell. The director was Jerome Storm who worked under the personal supervision of Thomas H. Ince himself.

YANKS TOO IMPETUOUS FRENCH SOLDIER SAYS
(N. E. A. Special)
Paris, Nov. 10.—When debate and politics lag in the French Chamber of Deputies the chief diversion is passing complimentary comment on the valorous deeds of the Yanks. One deputy, returned from a visit to the front, said he asked a French soldier who had seen four years fighting what he thought of the Americans. "The poltu, he told the deputies, answered: 'Ah, monsieur, they are marvelous! But they are not careful enough. Behind each one of them is needed an old fighter who at the right moment will catch hold of their shoulders and say: 'Not so quickly, my friend, not so quickly!'" DeFuniak Springs, Fla., Nov. 10.—Rev. J. J. P. Perry, rector of the Episcopal Church at DeFuniak Springs and one of the best known clergymen of West Florida, recently surprised his friends by returning home with a bride. Late in September Rev. Perry went to Tennessee for a vacation and while there visited Memphis where he married Mrs. Elizabeth B. Armistead, of Arlington, a suburb of Memphis. He recently returned home and brought his wife and installed her in the rectory without advance announcement to his many friends. It develops that the bride and groom were friends in childhood.
